U.S. Marines On Duty Near Fight Zone In Shanghai

SHANGHAI, September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—A terrific rain storm which continued several hours and flooded Shanghai streets to a depth of two feet late this afternoon, halted fighting between the Chekiang and Kiangsu armies west and northwest of the city.

Chinese military traditions provide for suspension of hostilities when the weather becomes bad.

Reports received after the down-pour interrupted the war showed that the Chekiang forces defending Shanghai, who started an active offensive against the Kiangsu troops today, had made slight gains at some points, merely holding their own at others.

In addition, messengers received from the western front where Chekiang troops, assisted by some of the province of Fukien, are fighting northward along the western shore of Taihu Lake indicated that they were nearing Hing, which was being defended by two brigades of Kiangsu soldiers.

Capture of Hing will bring the Chekiang army another step nearer its objective, Chang Chow, on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway behind the Kiangsu lines, severing the latter army's communications.

Rainstorm Halts Battle
SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—(United Press.)—General Lu, Yang, Hsiang's forces regained some ground in fighting before Shanghai today, but were not able to hold the positions on all fronts virtually unchanged.

Interference with the fighting this afternoon which partly flooded Shanghai, adding to the misery of the refugees.

Tens of the International Marines who landed at daybreak to defend the foreign settlement, were swamped.

Proclamations of martial law were distributed in the foreign quarter.

Tanks Take Up Positions

Nearest Fighting On Border
BY D. C. BESS

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—(By United Press.)—Allied and American military and naval commanders proclaimed martial law in the foreign settlement of Shanghai today as desperate fighting between the rival Chinese armies swept to within eight miles of the city.

Two hundred and fifty American tanks, together with about 800 Japanese, British and Italian tanks landed from foreign war vessels lying off the Wu Sung forts.

The Americans hastily took up positions nearest the fighting, along the Wu Sung border of the foreign quarter.

Gen. Lu Yang Hsiang's forces were reported routed. They were being beaten back upon Shanghai and hundreds of thousands of refugees were fleeing into the city and seeking refuge in the quarters guarded by the international marines.

Attackers Storm Forts
The attacking forces of General Chi Hsiang Yung, stormed the Wu Sung forts ten miles from Shanghai and later were reported to have pushed forward to within eight miles of the city.

Reports of the progress of the battle today were resumed with intensified fury today, many of them came from General Lu's commanders, who were near the city and who were reluctant to admit defeat.

Plan To Take Care of Exportable Surplus Farm Products May Soon Get Into Concrete Form

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1924, by the Times Publishing Company.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The idea of national, corporate, either government controlled, or the development of a cooperative plan to take care of the exportable surplus of American farm products may get into concrete form as a consequence of the discussion of agricultural needs during the presidential campaign.

John W. Davis' speech in Omaha amplifying the Democratic national platform on the subject of an export commission or corporation does not reveal whether the nominee is willing to endorse the McNary-Haugen bill which caused so much controversy at the last session of congress but both Mr. Davis and Mr. La Follette are declaring themselves for the principle of unified control of exports so as to enable the farmer to get better prices for his wares.

Now that it is apparent that the farmer is getting higher returns, due to the favorable weather, here as contrasted with short production in foreign countries, the dissatisfaction of the farmers is to some extent appeased, but it does not prevent the candidates who are after the farm vote from pointing out what seems to them ways and means of getting even better prices. In other words, the debate over the method by which the exportable surplus shall be handled has not ended. Mr. Davis in his Omaha speech did not take exactly the same ground that Governor Bryan of Nebraska did before he was a nominee for the vice presidency, but he came close enough to indicate that the influence of the Bryan family which helped write the idea into the Democratic national platform is still dominant on agricultural questions and from now on the advice received from the vice presidential nominee may be seen running through the speeches of the Democratic nominees for the presidency. Mr. Davis could not very well disavow the Democratic platform's pronouncement for an export corporation, but if he were against the idea at heart (Continued on Page Fourteen)

PRINCE GETS BLOW IN EYE FROM CLOD OFF PONY'S HOOF

SYOSSET, L. I., N. Y., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—Recovered from his first American mishap—a blow in the eye from a clod kicked up by a polo pony—the Prince of Wales looked forward eagerly today to witnessing the first of the International Polo matches at Meadowbrook.

Physicians stated that the injury to the royal optic was not serious and the prince refused to allow it to interfere with his dancing last night.

"H. R. II." will root for the British four, who are almost hopeless long shots in the betting on the first match. He will sit in the official box of the U. S. Polo Association, with his aid, Major Melville, Secretary Weeks, General Pershing, Sir Esmé Howard and Lady Howard, Hon. Harlan F. Stone and Mrs. Stone, Hon. Henry C. Chase Determined To Stop Wills-Firpo Ring Battle

WASHINGTON, September 9.—(By the United Press.)—I have said all along that I am going to stop the Firpo-Wills fight and I am going to stop it.

With this belligerent declaration, Canon Wm. S. Chase, of Brooklyn, trying to secure deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, south American heavy-weight champion, set out on a new tour of government departments here today.

Chase called at the White House to consult with C. Bascom Sloop, the president's secretary, but did not ask to see President Coolidge.

Sloop sent him to see Warren F. Martin, special assistant to Attorney General Stone. Chase would not disclose his new attack but indicated it was along legal lines.

Hangs Self To Tree In Park

CLEVELAND, O., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—County morgue officials announced today that Joe Hagler, 30, of Toledo, took his own life.

Hagler's body was found in a park here yesterday, a rope drawn tightly around the neck and police at first believed they had evidence of a murder.

An investigation, however, revealed that Hagler had hanged himself to the limb of a tree but that the hope had broken, leaving his body drop to the ground.

SANTIAGO, CHILE, September 9.—(By the United Press.)—President Alessandri, of Chile, who tendered his resignation Saturday night after a group of young army officers had forced him to resign, his cabinet was shattered in the American embassy here today.

The political situation continued chaotic. The military committee which actually has assumed control of affairs, did not accept the president's resignation, but announced he would be absent from functions usually demanding his presence, temporarily. The committee issued a statement guaranteeing the safety of the chief executive.

The National Congress yesterday afternoon approved by unanimous vote all the proposed peace laws by the new cabinet headed by General Alessandri and composed equally of army officers and civilians.

No disorders accompanied overthrow of the old cabinet and the new government proceeded with business-like efficiency.

PRESIDENT WAITS TO GREET HEROES OF THE AIR

(By Dale Van Every)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—America's globe-circling flyers arrived over the capital at 2:20 p. m. today, soared majestically in great circles over the city and came to rest at Bolling Field.

Buffeted by storms and buffed by fate on the entire trip from Mitchell Field, L. I., and forced down at Aberdeen, Md., to refuel, they arrived over three and one-half hours after scheduled time.

The airmen appeared first to the north, flying low under the clouds, with their escort of seven planes. As they approached Bolling Field, the escort dropped to earth, while the Giant Doug, his planes of the world airmen continued on towards Arlington to drop a floral tribute on the grave of the unknown soldier.

Only two of the planes successfully negotiated the hop, however, Lieutenant Nelson being forced down about twenty miles from Washington. Lieutenants Smith and Wade completed the flight.

One of the escort planes from the Bolling Field picked Nelson up and brought him along to Washington, leaving Lieutenant John Harding, Nelson's mechanic, to stand by the plane.

Because of the lateness of the hour, however, and the fact that President Coolidge and the cabinet had waited nearly four hours for them, Lieutenant Smith signalled for Wade, his remaining companion, to land at the field without completing the trip over Arlington.

As the planes touched the earth, alarums, whistles and horns turned loose a deafening din and the huge crowd packed around the enclosure raised a mighty cheer.

The flyers climbed over the sides of the stands which were brought to a stop before the reviewing stand. As they got out President Coolidge and Secretary of War Weeks came forward to give them a warm greeting.

"It was terrible," said Smith, as he jumped out of his plane at Bolling Field to find President Coolidge and his cabinet waiting to greet him.

From the time they took off at Mitchell Field this morning they ran into storms, gales and fog. They were all forced to land at Aberdeen, Md., when visibility became too low to make flying safe and also to replenish fuel supplies depleted in bucking the winds.

It was Nelson's first mishap of the trip. After flying 22,000 miles through all climates and countries, he brought to earth in a Maryland field by a minor trouble with his plane.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—The around-the-world flyers took off from Mitchell Field, Long Island for Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., at 9:35 a. m. Eastern Daylight time.

The Globes circling machines attained altitude and headed southward, a squadron of seven smaller and swifter planes, headed by Major General Patrick, took wing to accompany the tourists to Bolling Field.

The planes were laden with flowers (Continued On Page Nineteen)

PORTLAND, MAINE, September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ralph O. Brewster, of Portland, Republican, a member of the state senate, was elected governor of Maine yesterday by a plurality of more than 30,000 over William R. Pattangall, of Augusta, Democrat. With returns received from 693 election precincts out of 933 in the state, the vote stood:

Brewster ..... 138,049
Pattangall ..... 103,273

(The missing precincts included the city of East Port, which is normally Republican, one precinct of Portland and a number of towns which have too small a total vote to affect the result materially. With the same precincts and one additional Portland precinct missing, United States Senator Bert A. Fernald, Republican, received a revised vote of 138,930 to 91,818 for Fulton J. Rodman, Democrat. The four Republican congressmen were re-elected by safe margins.

Federal, a former attorney general of Maine, conducted his campaign against Brewster principally on the issue of the Ku Klux Klan. In the primaries Brewster was endorsed by the Klan for the Republican nomination, although he asserted that he was not a member of the Klan and never had sought its support.

On the face of the primary returns Brewster was defeated by President Frank G. Farrington of the state senate by a small margin, but on a recount Brewster was given the nomination. The first telegram of congratulation which he received last night came from Farrington.

Republican speakers of national prominence who came into the state in support of Brewster and Fernald and the four Republican congressmen, laid their emphasis on national issues and joined the Republican state committee in urging that a vote for Brewster meant endorsement of President Coolidge.

Pattangall won the Democratic nomination for governor in 1922 against Delval P. Baxter, Republican, and was defeated by a plurality of 28,457 in a total vote of sixty thousand less than that cast yesterday.

George L. Emory, chairman of the Republican state committee sent a telegram to G. Brewster, secretary to President Coolidge, saying "This prefigures a splendid victory for Coolidge and Dawes in November."

Sentence of Loeb and Leopold To Be Published In Newspapers Before It Is Given In Court

CHICAGO, September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Final precautions were being taken today to insure the orderly sentencing to death of life imprisonment, tomorrow of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the kidnapping and murdering of Bobbie Franks.

Fifty policemen and scores of plain clothesmen will be on duty outside and in the corridors of the criminal courts building to keep the crowds away. The court room will be closed to spectators, only relatives of the defendants and licensed and attorneys, bailiffs and newspaper men will be present.

Because of the many threats received by Judge John R. Caverly, who will pronounce sentence at 9:30 a. m. Central Daylight saving time, special precautions for safeguarding him, will be taken.

Judge Caverly issued a statement last night in which he requested that public notice be printed that his opinion will be given first to newspapers in written form and that newspapers will appear on the streets with the sentence long before any of those outside could hear it from the court room. This, he hopes, will keep away crowds of curious.

Far away from the drone of the court room will be the father and mother of one of the defendants—Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Loeb. On their summer estate near Charlevoix, Mich., the father and mother will be awaiting the tinkle of a telephone bell which will tell them whether their son shall forfeit his life to a hangman or to the walls of Joliet penitentiary.

Nathan F. Leopold, Sr., and Foreman Leopold, a brother of Nathan, Jr., will be in court to represent the other defendant. They will be attended by Clarence Darrow and Benjamin and Walter Bachrach, defense attorneys.

Members of the prosecutor's staff who have been handling the case with State's Attorney Crowe have been at work laying plans for combating any move the defense might attempt tomorrow.

He also offered to lay an even term parlay bet that he, Richard Loeb, his partner in crime, and Russell Scott, awaiting trial on charges of murdering Joseph Maurer all will be sentenced to hang.

The offer was made today in the county jail when reporters were admitted for their last interview before Justice Caverly will read his sentence tomorrow.

Klan May Be Issue In Trial

DAYTON, O., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—The Ku Klux Klan may be an issue in the trial of Peter Dearwater, Springfield, charged with manslaughter for killing Martin Shock in an automobile accident March 27.

Shock, although not robbed, was a sentinel directing traffic with two Klan members in full regalia at the time of the accident, which occurred near a field where the Klan was conducting a meeting.

Jurors were asked if the fact was shown that the dead man was a Klansman, would it in any way affect a finding. All replied that it would not.

The jury is composed of nine men and three women.

Extend Hunt For Woman to Canada

CLEVELAND, O., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—Search for Mrs. Anna Incavanzzi, 17, missing since Labor Day, was extended to Canada today and detectives announced the arrest of several additional suspects in the girl's disappearance will be made today or tomorrow.

The suspects are believed to be members of a gang, responsible for what police now believe was a case of abduction.

The theory of detectives is that there were three men in the gang. One of the men entered the young mother from her home into an auto and the other two took her to Canada.

The letter received by the girl's father purporting to have been sent by her from Akron, has been discarded as an attempt at blackmail.

Mrs. Incavanzzi's husband disappeared two years ago after receiving several threatening letters and has not been heard from since.

Fire Wardens In County Named

(Contributed by E. E. Leete, Assistant Forester.)
Fifty-three per cent of the total area of Scioto County is occupied by woodlands and brushlands. Over the greater part of this, steep slopes prohibit profitable farming and even orcharding or grazing. The logical crop for half the county is timber. It permanently protected from fire, the annual growth on the 151,000 acres of forest lands in the county should amount to 25 or 30 million board feet a year (including ties, posts and other products). Forest fires tremendously reduce this annual yield of useful products. They have impoverished thousands of acres and made living conditions harder for hundreds of families. Properly protected from fire and given an opportunity to maintain a normal rate of growth the forests of this county would probably yield two or three hundred thousand dollars a year in wages alone. Farm woodlots protected both from fire and from grazing will thus over many a farm family in hard times. If the woods are ruined, there is nothing to fall back upon in an emergency.
The fires which ruin the prospects of future profit are caused by little acts of carelessness and might easily be avoided. The law says it is a crime to destroy property in this way. If it is a crime to start a forest fire, it is also a public service to stop one. The public should appreciate the splendid work that is being done by the fire wardens throughout the county and those who are called out to help them. When in the woods be very careful with fire. Observe all the fire laws, and get your friends to do the same. If you find a fire and can't extinguish it yourself, get help. Call the fire-warden. Many acres can easily be saved by spreading the alarm. Also phone E. E. Leete 2040, or O. R. Foster, 5902-L.

Forest Fire Laws
The fall closed season on fires in and near the woods begins September 10 and ends November 25. Permits to kindle fires must also be secured between March 1 and June 1 from the nearest local fire warden. This law, however, does not apply to fires kindled within the city limits, railroad rights of way (by employees), or fires more than 200 feet from woods and dry grass as in plowed fields. The fire districts extend over most of Scioto, Pike, Ross, Vinton and Adams Counties, and some of Lawrence and Jackson Counties.
Fires must not be built at any time of the year on other people's property without their consent. No fire may lawfully be kindled in the woods without first removing the inflammable sticks, leaves, grass, etc., surrounding the place where the fire is made. If clearings are to be burned, the entire area must first be raked around fires from the edge against the wind and carefully guarded until out. No fire may lawfully be left until safely covered or entirely extinguished. It is also unlawful to cause fires by carelessly throwing down lighted matches, cigarette stubs or any other burning substance. Lists of the local fire wardens have been filed with the county clerk and the county farm agent. Names of local fire wardens and other information may be secured by phoning or writing E. E. Leete, Assistant Forester, 1517 Robinson avenue, Portsmouth. Phone 2040.

Democrats To Decide On Formal Opening of Ohio Campaign
COLUMBUS, O., September 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Plans for conducting the state campaign are to be perfected by the Democratic state central and executive committees at meetings here this afternoon.
The executive committee expected to determine today whether a formal opening of the campaign is to be held. It has been proposed that such a formal opening be held in Marion next Tuesday, September 10. Republicans yesterday decided to hold their formal opening at Marion with the tentative date set as September 27, providing Charles G. Dawes, the vice presidential nominee, can be there on that date.
The Democratic state central committee today, among other things will ratify the selection of the women associate members who have been named by each district member. The women members are scheduled to be present and participate in the business session.
Most of the candidates also are expected to meet with the executive committee to talk over campaign plans. Governor Donahay, however, said he probably would not attend as he has to accumulate during his vacation on the Great Lakes. He said today that he probably will spend most of the time during the campaign at the executive offices.

Mass. Voters Go To Polls To Select State Nominee

BOSTON, September 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Massachusetts voters went to the polls today to choose Republican and Democratic candidates for state and national offices in November. It was expected that a heavy Republican vote would be polled. There were few contests in the Democratic primaries.
For the Republican nomination for United States senator were three candidates, Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the National House of Representatives, Congressman Frederick W. Hager and Louis A. Coolidge, treasurer of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation. Opposing each other for the Republican gubernatorial nomination were Lieutenant Governor Alvin T. Diller and State Treasurer James Jackson.
Charge of "machinery" methods were made by Dallinger and Coolidge after the candidacy of Speaker Gillett had been endorsed by Governor Cox and William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Colorado To Choose Major Party Tickets

DENVER, COLO., September 9.—(By the Associated Press)—With the prospect of a record-breaking Republican primary vote, Colorado voters today will go to the polls to nominate both Republican and Democratic state tickets, including candidates for two seats in the senate.
Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, Republican, and Alvin E. Adams, Democrat, are unopposed for the nomination for the six year senate term.
In the race for the unexpired term, caused by the death of Samuel D. Nicholson and now filled by Senator Adams, there are two Democratic and three Republican candidates.
Interest centers principally, however, around the Republican gubernatorial race, which is a three-cornered affair between C. J. Morley, district judge from Denver; Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Rockwell and former Lieutenant Governor Earl Coffey.

AMERICAN WORLD FLYERS EXPECTED TO SOAR OVER PORTSMOUTH WEDNESDAY

Portsmouth folks will watch eagerly tomorrow for a sight of the American world flyers who will probably pass this way in their flight from Washington, D. C. to Dayton.
Wire dispatches to the Times today advised that there was a possibility that the planes would fly over this territory though local military men say that Portsmouth is too far south to be on the route to McCook Field. The three planes are flying together under the command of Lieut. Lowell Smith.

Do You Teach The Youngsters To Face The Facts?

School bells ringing for the new term call tomorrow's men and women—the leaders and workers of a few years hence.
Billions could not equal the wealth of this nation in its boys and girls. Added billions could not pay what school days will be worth to them.
Train them to meet each test as best they can, to cheer the comrade who passes them while each does the best he can.
Teach them, too, that thrift and a knowledge of how to save are big stepping-stones to success.

Goldstein Wins

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Abraham Goldstein, world's bantam-weight champion, successfully defended his title in a furious 15 round match last night against Tommy Ryan, McKeesport, Pa., at Queensboro A. C. The challenger narrowly escaped a knockout in the thirteenth round.

Kills Himself Shortly Before Wedding Hour

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—An hour before he was to have married Miss Ruth Chambers of this city, Edward Higgins, 35, Brooklyn, N. Y., salesman, hanged himself in his room here today by tying a necktie around his neck and fastening the other end to a bed post. His first attempt to end his life in this manner resulted in failure when the necktie broke.

Miss Chambers and Higgins were to have been married this morning. She had gone to a downtown hotel to await his arrival after which they had planned to go together to the county building to obtain a marriage license.

The girl waited for more than an hour for her fiance to appear, and when he failed to arrive after the appointed time she grew apprehensive and telephoned the office of a dentist living below the apartment which Higgins had kept there.

When his knocks failed to bring a response, the dentist called attendants and the door was forced open. At the head of the bed the body of Higgins was found suspended from a necktie. The girl when informed of the suicide, collapsed and was said to be in a serious condition.

"Window-shopping" was a popular pastime in Portsmouth today, for tomorrow is Dollar Day, and many of the merchants have already filled their windows with representative merchandise which will be offered in the morning at wholesale reductions.

As early as Tuesday evening interested shoppers could be seen making the rounds of the windows to study the bargains offered and decide to which store they wished to rush first.

For Dollar Day has become an institution in Portsmouth. When the doors open at 8 o'clock in the morning practically every store entrance in the city will be crowded with those eager to have first choice of the bargains offered. For Portsmouth shoppers have learned that the price cutting for this semi-annual event is genuine, and every woman loves a real bargain.

Articles offered for one smolcon tomorrow will range from bath-room stools to crepe frocks and from aluminum kettles to crystal heads, and in the vast assortment every woman will find something to her taste.

Indications point to the streets and stores being thronged with buyers tomorrow.

N. & W. Sign Painter Loses Eight Teeth; Hit By Crank

Harrison Ingles, 25, sign painter employed by the N. & W., was painfully injured yesterday when he was struck in the mouth with the crank of a motor car, which he and fellow-workmen use in traveling along the line to give crossings and other signs a new coat of paint.

The accident occurred at Sciotoville and Ingles was knocked unconscious for a time by the blow which knocked out eight teeth and badly lacerated his lips. The injured man was brought to the office of Dr. S. S. Halderman for treatment.

Ingles is a son of S. A. Ingles, grocer, at 1128 Chillicothe street.

Lions' Club To Present Minstrel

Definite decision to hold a minstrel this winter, and acceptance of a challenge to a local game with the American Legion were the outstanding features of the Lions Club meeting last night at the American Restaurant.

The decision to hold a minstrel this winter was a unanimous one. President Fred Klingman appointed the following general committee to be in charge of the minstrel: Lions, Wade Quillen, Harold Welch, Herbert Fry, John Fluke, and John Williams.

Proceeds of the minstrel will go into the Lions fund for financing children's charity beds in Hemstead and Mercy Hospitals.

The challenge of the American Legion baseball team was accepted hilariously, and without a dissenting voice. Wesley P. Bidonour was appointed manager of the team for the occasion and the boys are shining up their bats again for another momentous diamond tussle. Although smarting under defeat at the hands of the Exchange Club, recently, the Lions team is much consoled by the challenge of the Legion diamond artists. "We feel, one member of the team said, 'as though the Legion team is one organization that knows a baseball when it sees it. This game is going to be won on merit and not on the sidelines.' Just what the Lions meant, he refused to explain. He intimated, however, that he might possibly have a double meaning.

The following were appointed on the state committee which will entertain the Lions International Convention at Cedar Point in July, 1925: Arthur F. Young, finance; Harry McNeer, transportation; and Fred Klingman, reception.

The City Hall campaign committee announced that it will meet Friday evening at the office of the city auditor, when plans will be announced for the campaign to put over the bond issue for a new city hall, at the coming election.

Woman Helped Murder Her Eighth Husband, She Says; Stole Ninth Spouse's Cash

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 8.—Confessing that she was implicated in the murder of her eighth husband and that she shot and killed the suitor who actually killed the man, Mrs. Euphemia Mondith, was taken into custody here today. She is also charged with an alleged theft of $5,700.

The woman, police say, claims that a man known only to her as John, crushed the skull of her former husband, Joseph Sokolowsky, while the two men and herself were in a motor car four years ago. Jealousy is said to have caused the slaying. The woman claims she stayed in the automobile while the man disposed of her husband's body.

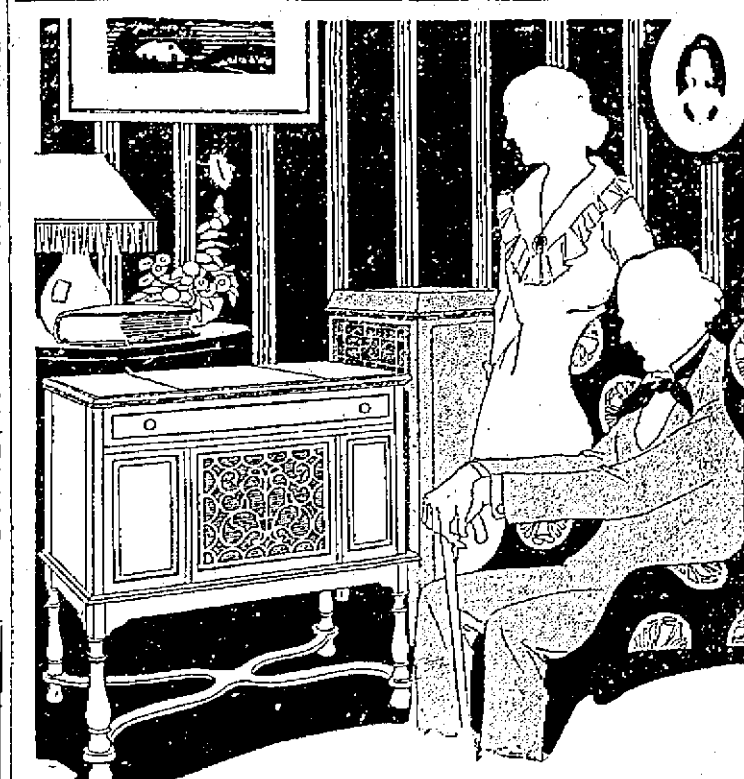

A few evenings later, according to the story told by police, she said, John came to her residence and she, appalled by the thought of the killing of her husband, refused to have anything to do with him. He then threatened her with a revolver, which she persuaded him to lay down. When he did this, she snatched the weapon and shot him in the abdomen.

She then buried the body under the house, she is said to have told police. Her husband was a man believed to be those of John, were found by police, when they dug under the house where the woman had lived.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young easterner, is driving Sally Morgan from her father's ranch to the station when they run out of gasoline. At the point of a gun the Wreck takes five gallons from a passing car. Later, Charlie McSwain, foreman of a ranch along the route, makes them captives, because he wants Sally for a ranch cook. He develops that Mr. Underwood, the owner of the ranch, was in the car which they held up. Sally and the Wreck finally escape from the ranch, run into a camp of real bandits, are captured a second time, and then escape again. Fleeing on foot from the bandit camp, they find the horse belonging to Sheriff Bob Wells, Sally's fiance, who is at the head of a posse searching for the "bandits" who held up Underwood.

SNOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Say, are you trying to get me nervous about this?" demanded the Wreck. "Because you're wasting time, at you are. I can just cut this."

Sally eyed him with a speculative look as he began running his fingers through the mane of the black horse. She had never seen the Wreck looking quite so buoyant. Presently she began to laugh.

"I wish Bob Wells could see you," she said.

"Yes?"

"Oh, you needn't get belligerent. I'm laughing at Bob. He'd just die of mortification. He'd either curl up and die or shoot you. I don't know which."

The Wreck shrugged and eased himself in the saddle. Then he began laughing himself.

"What do we do next, Sally?"

"Keep moving, I suppose."

"Which way?"

"It was getting to be a fine morning as she swung about in her saddle and began studying the country."

Then she led the way again, across a meadow. The Wreck could not understand her. In her place, he would have wanted to get to Chicago, even over the dead bodies of sheriffs and hold-up men, if necessary, do his buying and finish up what he started out to do. But here was a person who did not seem to care whether she completed her errand or not.

It struck him as peculiar that they broke into a trot and he did not mind it in the least. What did he care if he fell off?

Soon they were climbing a hillside, and when it became too steep for the horses, they dismounted.

"We'll leave them here," said Sally. "Just throw the reins over his head and he'll stand. I think we ought to go up to the top for a better look."

CHAPTER XXII.
The Wreck Surrenders.

It was not the highest of the hills, but it was bare at the top, so that it afforded them a panorama that boxed the compass.

"I'm sure that streak off to the north," said Sally, "is the main road."

The Wreck nodded his agreement.

"I've about made up my mind," said Sally, "to go back to the Bar-M. I don't want you to think I'm a quitter. But I'm not sure that I have any friends in Chicago. Not now, at any rate."

"That's all right."

"Saddle sore?" she asked suddenly.

"No."

"I think if you could always ride the sheriff's horse, Henry, you'd overcome your prejudice—provided the sheriff happened to be wanting it."

He grinned.

The Wreck was glancing in the direction where he thought the sheriff lay when his eye was attracted by a movement of something in the meadow below them.

"What's that?" he asked, pointing.

"Two horses, with riders," said Sally promptly. "And they're following our trail."

"I left the rifle hanging on the saddle," he said, sheepishly.

"Let's hustle down and get it. Be-ides, we want our own horses."

Half running, half sliding, they started down the steep hillside.

"Keep behind the rocks and trees as much as you can," she advised.

They dodged into cover wherever they could find it, working downhill in a zigzag course toward the spot where they left the horses. The horses were not in sight.

"I'm afraid they've drifted down toward the meadow," she said. "What do you think we'd better do?"

"Keep going."

"But if they reach the horses first—"

"We've got to take a chance. Maybe it's nobody who'll bother us, anyhow."

She had misgivings on that score, but followed him as he took the lead. A few minutes later when he was several yards in advance, she saw him stop abruptly and make a signal for caution. He pointed to an opening in the trees, and his friend and somebody else, she whispered.

The Wreck was right. Bob Wells, dismounted, had recovered his own horse and was subjecting it to a critical scrutiny. With him was a man whom Sally had never seen before.

"Out of luck again," she growled. "Oh, they haven't got us yet," said the Wreck, confidently.

"But they will."

Presently the sheriff began examining the ground and Sally pinched the Wreck's arm.

"There—he's looking up. Duck!"

There was a big boulder handy; they stepped behind it and flattened themselves.

"What'll we do?" asked Sally.

"We might work around to the side," he suggested. "But—they're coming now."

Up the steep slope they could see the sheriff and his companion.

"Well, I guess this is the finish," she said, grimly.

"Listen," whispered the Wreck, "you stay here."

"Where are you going?" She seized his arm.

"I've got a scheme. Leave it to me."

"We're both in this together. Henry—"

"Let me go," said the Wreck, fiercely. "I know what I'm doing."

She released his arm.

"Please be careful, Henry. Please!"

"Sure," he spoke jauntily.

Riding suddenly to his feet, he winked reassuringly.

"So-long, Sally. You stay right here until you're sent for."

He stepped out from behind the boulder. She watched him with wondering eyes. Why—he was surrendering.

The Wreck's hands were lifted in the air as he strode down the trail. He had not gone half a dozen paces when the sheriff's gun covered him.

"Halt!" said the Wreck. "Looking for anybody?"

Bob Wells stared, and as he stared his mouth opened wide.

"Well, I'm a son of a gun!" he gasped.

"Uh-huh," assented the Wreck.

"What's the idea?"

"It's the four-eyed dude!" said the sheriff, in a voice of wonder.

"Sure."

The second man joined the sheriff, and both stared incredulously at the spectacled Wreck.

"LOOKING FOR ANYBODY?" ASKED THE WRECK.

"So it was you who stole my horse," said Bob Wells.

"Just utilized him," said the Wreck. "And you've been running a stick-up game!"

The Wreck grinned.

"I decline to answer, on the usual grounds," he remarked. "You needn't keep that gun on me unless you're nervous."

The sheriff's glance roved the hillside.

"Where's your gang?" he asked suddenly.

"Well, if I was a sheriff," drawled the Wreck, "and if I thought there was anybody else I wanted, I'd go and look for 'em."

"What would you be doing with two horses if you didn't have somebody else with you?"

"I'm a trick rider."

Bob Wells stood glowering.

"You're a fresh bird," he muttered.

The Wreck began playing with a handful of pebbles.

"We'll get your gang anyhow," said the sheriff.

The Wreck was humming a tune.

Suddenly Bob Wells remembered something.

"Where's that fiver of yours?"

"This was news to the Wreck. He had supposed that the fiver was also, captive."

"She's in Montana," he said archly.

Just then Bob Wells remembered another thing, and it startled him.

"What became of Sally Morgan?" he demanded.

"Oh, she got her train."

"If I had the least suspicion she didn't," said the sheriff slowly. "I'd shoot you where you sit."

Bob Wells turned for a whispered consultation with his companion.

"Well, no more nonsense," said the sheriff. "Lead us to your gang."

"Nobody around here, sheriff."

"Going to make us take a look, are you?"

"I'm not making you."

The Wreck's only hope now was that Sally had managed to disappear. He wanted to keep her out of it, at any cost.

"We'll take him along with us, Jim," said the sheriff. "You keep a good eye on him."

"You're a big fathead," said the Wreck, irrelevantly.

Out from behind his boulder stepped Sally Morgan, her eyes very bright and her cheeks red under the tan. She walked back to the group.

"Well!" said the Wreck.

Bob Wells felt back a pace and eyed at her.

"Sally!" he cried.

CHAPTER XXIII.
Getting Engaged.

The sheriff felt that he was staring at an apparition. Sally had taken her stand beside the Wreck. Why hadn't she kept out of it? thought the Wreck.

"Sally Morgan!" The sheriff's voice was unsteady.

"Certainly," said Sally.

Bob Wells took a step forward, reached for her, hesitated.

"But he said—" The sheriff glared at the Wreck.

"I heard what he said," remarked Sally.

The sheriff's eyes narrowed.

"Sally, you've been kidnapped!" he exclaimed.

She laughed.

"Don't be a fool, Bob."

Butler, G. O. P. Chairman, Declares That Davis Has Been Eliminated From The Presidential Contest

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(By A. P.)—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, returned to national headquarters here today, conferred with his aides and a number of party leaders and then issued a statement declaring:

"The one fact plain to all observers of this campaign is that John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee, has been eliminated from the contest."

"Mr. Davis ranks third in the country, almost without exception," the statement continued. "This is an extraordinary state of affairs for a period two months before election. Chairman Clem Shaver in Washington has sadly admitted that there is a half truth in this statement, and he will no doubt bend his every energy to correct it.

"It is impossible that Mr. Davis could grow much weaker, therefore, I expect that he will have a new wave by the first of October."

May Gain Slightly.

"That, however, will come by the natural return to his own party of people who temporarily are following the socialist third party ticket. By that time they will have a clearer vision of where they are being led and the identity of the persons and forces leading them as well as the socialistic issues to which they are being committed. So a certain number will return to the Democratic fold. But at the same time we will secure a very considerable number of these voters who will be attracted by the plain common sense and honesty of Coolidge's candidacy."

"The official leaders of the Democratic party, if I have read their newspaper organs and prophets aright, have already sensed this situation.

"We have been advised in New York that Democratic strategy now calls for the abandonment of the northwest and Pacific coast states and the intensifying of campaign of the east in the hope of creating a combination of the solid south and eastern states, electoral votes. But even their most optimistic supporters do not attempt to claim New York or New Jersey, and when Vance McCormick, as a salaried attempter to talk hopelessly of Pennsylvania as being won from Republican control the Democratic voters followed. He was carrying the joke too far."

"Mr. Davis has lost because he has failed to strike twelve. He has not lost because of lack of skill or campaign management. He has not been confounded by any strategy which I or my assistants have developed. The people have of themselves decided that he is not the man."

Speeches Merely Promises.

"His speeches gracefully phrased have been after all messages only of promise and the people have contrasted them with the plain common sense achievements of President Coolidge. He has lost because the odds were too great for him to overcome."

"As to the activities of the socialist third party, I am not disturbed. Although I have only been here a short while, I am advised from competent and impartial new friends of mine that conditions in the west are most favorable. Not only is John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee, failing to make headway, but Senator La Follette is losing support. Advances from all midwestern states set forth that President Coolidge is attracting the support of voters who at the beginning of the campaign were inclined to aid the senator."

EDITOR MAGEE OUT FOR SENATE IN NEW MEXICO

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 9.—Carl C. Magee, Editor of the New Mexico State Tribune, and at the present time under sentence of 60 days imprisonment for contempt of court today formally announced his candidacy for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket.

Machine-ridden, reactionary party control "forced him to take the field" to make a point for progressive concentration, Magee said.

Is Recovering

Mrs. Henry Collinson, of Buena Vista, who has been dangerously ill, is convalescing and is now able to sit up.

She Quits LaFollette.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 9.—Miss Marie Wing, Cleveland, withdrew her name today as one of the LaFollette independent presidential electors for Ohio, according to Secretary of State Thad Brown. No reason was given for her withdrawal.

Peter Witt, chairman of the LaFollette organization in Ohio, named Mrs. Evelyn F. Stires of East Cleveland, to fill the vacancy on the ticket.

Division of Opinion Among Experts On The Outcome of Firpo-Wills Scrap

BY HENRY FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(United Press)—No heavyweight contest in years has caused the division of opinion among the experts that is found in the advance predictions on the outcome of the Luis Firpo-Harry Wills contest to be held Thursday night in Tex Rickard's Jersey City arena.

When Jack Dempsey was preparing for his fight in Toledo, against Jess Willard there were only a few brave hearts who were willing to argue against the theory that Willard had too much size for the smaller and younger challenger.

Dempsey's punching power was recognized and admitted by all. His fighting heart and his savage style of attack had been proved, but he was looked upon as being too small.

Difference in size and weight were also factors that had to be figured by the experts when they were forming an opinion before the Dempsey-Carpenter fight. Punching power and boxing skill were also of the most vital importance.

Dempsey was picked almost unanimously as the winner because he was bigger and heavier, because he had a two-handed attack against the right-hand weapon of the Frenchman and because he was figured as having just as much speed and boxing skill—not as spectacular, but just as effective.

In practically every heavyweight fight since Dempsey won the title there has been an overwhelming sentiment in favor of one of the principals, but the speculation on the Firpo-Wills fight finds almost as many guesses as there are guessers.

Wills was installed as a slight favorite when the match was made. But the betting changed when it was learned that Firpo was training seriously and that South American became the favorite. Opinion has been changing so much, however, that it is possible they will be even-money choices when they go into the ring.

Renault Is Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Jack Renault of Canada last night won the judges' decision over George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro heavyweight, in a ten-round bout marked by much clinching at the Philadelphia National League baseball park. Renault weighed 200 pounds; Godfrey 215.

Coach Clinton Houser is gone from Chillicothe, but he has left behind for his successor Coach Walter Young, a heritage that looks as if it will grow of vast value in the South Central Ohio High School Conference grid chase. It is a bunch of youngsters well versed in fundamentals, who will probably be molded into one of the most dangerous teams, both defensively and on the offense, on the circuit.—Scioto Gazette.

Despondent, Adams Co. Man Ends Life

Thomas Smith, aged 73, of Manchester, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself through the head with a thirty-two caliber revolver on the farm of O. D. Swearingen. Ill health and lack of a permanent home are believed to have been the cause of his despondency which led to the shooting.

Walter Carmichael of this city was a nephew of the deceased, who was well known in Adams county.

BRIDE AND HUSBAND KILLED BY JEALOUS ITALIAN FATHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A pine box labeled "No. 424" in the Bellevue hospital morgue tonight held the slayer of 18-year-old Margaret Guica and her husband, Carmello, whose bullet riddled bodies were found at dawn in their dingy little home in the East Side Ghetto.

In the pine box was the deformed and steel corseted body of Giuseppe Gandolfo, the bride's father, who had been killed by an automobile several hours before detectives, learning of the double murder, had scattered in search of him as the slayer. Gandolfo, the police said apparently fled from the scene of the crime directly into the path of an automobile on the Bovey. Last night and today, while the hunt for him was on, his body lay in the morgue unidentified.

"Thomas Gandolfo visited the morgue this afternoon to arrange for the burial of his sister and her husband. As he passed box 424 his eyes rested casually upon the features of its occupant. He stopped, startled. 'It's my father,' he cried.

Circumstances of the tragedy remain undisclosed. Paternal jealousy is believed to have driven Gandolfo to shoot his daughter and her husband, after they returned to live with him, following their marriage contrary to his wishes.

Police who picked up his body on the Bovey last night found a passport and a steamship ticket in his clothing. The conviction that he fired the fatal shots was borne out by the suicide and by the evidence of the contemplated flight, said the authorities.

Until recently Margaret kept house for her father in their Mott street tenement home. Each morning she adjusted the steel jacket he wore, for he was a cripple.

Thomas, the son, believes the climax to the family quarrels came when Carmello forbade his wife to lace Gandolfo's steel jacket each day.

Bobbed Hair May Evolve Bearded Girls

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 9.—Bobbed hair, it persisted in for several generations, will evolve a race of bearded women, according to Charles Nestle, New York, vice president of the Wholesale Beauty Trade association, in an address before the association's convention which opened here today.

"Bobbed hair today, bearded women tomorrow," said Mr. Nestle. "The great granddaughters of the bobbed beauties of the present will be able to twirl jaunty mustaches and trim their beards a la Van Dyke. Baldness will become as common among them as among men. In every human being is a chemical laboratory that is constantly manufacturing to grow on the head it will grow on the face and body. Savage men who never cut their hair have meagre beards. Many of races that have cut their hair regularly at the barbers are hairy chested and hairy limbed."

Coolidge to Review Firpo Allegations

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—President Coolidge will receive the evidence of Canon William S. Chase, upon which he bases his demand for the deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight today. Two days hence Firpo is scheduled to meet Harry Wills. Announcement that Canon Chase had obtained an appointment at the White House was made by his attorney, Bernard H. Sandler.

Today also, if Mr. Sandler's information is correct, fire from another quarter will be directed against the heavyweight bout. Representatives of the New York-New Jersey State Council of Churches, the Hudson County Sunday School association, the Hudson County Women's Temperance Union and members of the special prize fight committee of the Clergymen's Community club of Jersey City were in conference with Mr. Sandler today and received all the evidence contributed by Mr. Chase.

It was said that steps to prevent the bout would be taken not later than tomorrow.

All the allegations against Firpo are based upon his alleged relations with Miss Blanca Louderos Pierst, a passenger on the steamer which brought the Argentine to America early in the year.

Firpo continued with his usual training schedule today, the only interruption coming from the service of a summons in connection with a New Jersey man's claim to $25,000 of the money the Argentine will receive from the bout with Wills.

Slayers' Fate Sealed; Judge To Deliver Opinion Wednesday

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Justice John R. Caverly has settled the fate of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, for their murder of Bobby Franks. His opinion, running approximately 1,000 words has been written and now is in the hands of a stenographer. The opinion was completed late yesterday. It had been scrawled in pencil, edited and re-edited until its every phrase and shade of meaning were exactly as the justice wanted them.

A typist, sworn to secrecy, had the document today. Exactly 20 copies have been ordered by Justice Caverly to be used by the attorneys for both sides and the press.

Justice Caverly made it known that the opinion does not contain the actual words of sentence. He said he would read the opinion in court and then pronounce sentence.

Priest Sentenced For Forging Rum Permits

DENVER, Sept. 9.—The Rev. Fr. Walter A. Grace, pastor of the Shrine of St. Ann, Catholic church, Arvada, Colo., must serve two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., it was finally ruled by Judge Kimbrough Stone, Kansas City, Mo., sitting in federal circuit court of appeals today.

Father Grace was sentenced nearly a year ago to two years' imprisonment after conviction on a charge of forging liquor permits for 15 barrels of whiskey.

Youth 18; Admits Killing Girl, 14

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 9.—Edward Daughtry, 18, a husky boy, who recently came here from Kentucky, today confessed to St. Louis county authorities that he shot Ethel Baxter, 14, to death, Saturday after an automobile holdup in which he obtained 40 cents.

Daughtry got the 40 cents from a man in the party, then he killed her with a back seat of the car. So shot Ethel in the chest with her half brother who attempted to prevent his kissing the girls.

Rites For Aged Rabbi

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Rabbi Solomon Miller, 107 years old and Chicago's oldest citizen so far as known, was to be buried here today. He died early yesterday in his modest apartment where he had been spiritual adviser to many of his race. He had not been in a synagogue for a number of years.

Coolidge-Dawes Political Caravan To Start On Trip Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Senator Simon D. Fess, Ohio, and former Congressman A. W. Jeffries, Nebraska, left last night for Plymouth, Vermont, the birthplace of President Coolidge, where they will today inaugurate the Coolidge-Dawes caravan campaign that aims for its thousandth people after he had obtained only $5 from the cash register and finally was captured after several shots had been fired and the rattle thrown in a near panic.

The first rally of the 5,000-mile tour arranged by the Home Town Coolidge club will be attended by neighbors and neighborhood friends of the president.

Starts Out To Write Thriller, But Lives It

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Albert Seville, 20, who says he is a graduate of the University of California and a member of a noted Spanish family, came to New York to write fiction thrillers and began today by living one instead.

Seville, hungry, after tramping the streets in a vain effort to sell his stories, held up a haberdasher in the "roarin' forties" near Times Square, what chance for a thousand people after he had obtained only $5 from the cash register and finally was captured after several shots had been fired and the rattle thrown in a near panic.

Seville said he was born in Cadiz, Spain, where his father is a government official.

Northeast Methodists Gather For Convention

COSHOCTON, O., Sept. 9.—Nearly a hundred delegates to the Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, had registered tonight for the sessions which open tomorrow afternoon and close with the assignment of pastors next Monday afternoon.

Most of the delegates are expected to arrive tomorrow morning. About 600 pastors are expected.

Buddies, Take Your 'Heavies,' It's Cold In 'Legion Town'

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 9.—Buddies, this advice was handed out today by the advance guard of the American Legion here for the national convention next week.

Russell G. Overston, national adjutant and his staff, were greeted in a narrow chilling drizzle that was just lifting today. The temperature was below 50.

Another good use for the "heavies", however, will be a little added protection against the hard pine paddles that have been sold widely as an entertainment and souvenir feature of the convention.

The paddles are nearly three feet long with a blade about eight inches across.

Thomas Hinds, Veteran Of Track, Dies In Crash

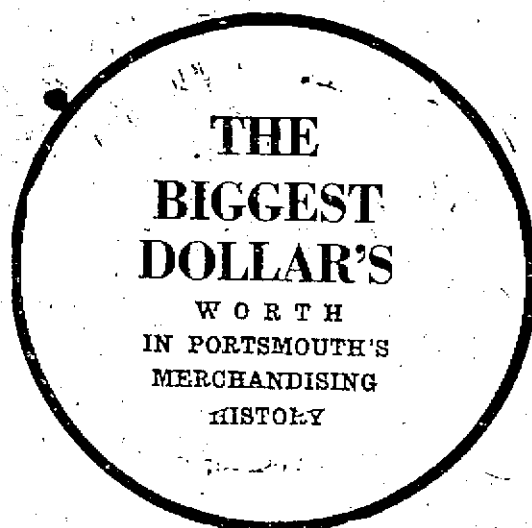

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Thomas Hinds, of Goshen, N. Y., veteran grand circuit driver, received fatal injuries today when Bonnie Del, the horse he was driving, collided with Tommy Murphy's Clyde the Great, at the quarter mile turn in the second heat of the $205 trot at the New York state fair.

Physicians who rushed to Hinds' aid after the accident declared his skull was fractured and he died as he was being lifted into an ambulance.

PRIZE STEER SOLD AT AUCTION BRINGS $207

DAYTON, O., Sept. 9.—The champion prize-winning steer exhibited at the Montgomery county fair here, weighing 1,100 pounds was purchased at auction by a local hotel company at 27 cents a pound, bringing the sale price of $207. This price greatly exceeds the Chicago market price for ordinary steers which brought 10 and 11 cents.

Ka-di-ok Proves Key To Health

Forced to Quit Work Because of Stomach Troubles but Finds Prompt Relief in Remedy.

MR. BERT ZIRKLE

Forced to quit work because of ill health, but enabled to return through the famous herbal health-builder—Ka-di-ok. That is the experience of Mr. Bert Zirkle, 250 Seventh Ave., Huntington, W. Va. In talking with a representative of the Ka-di-ok Laboratories recently, he said: "I suffered with stomach disorders and doctored for them for a long time without getting any better. My back ached and stomach cramps troubled me to such an extent that I just had to quit work. Then I read about Ka-di-ok and decided to try it. I must say that I am glad I did for in a week's time I was able to go back to work again and I have been working since. I heartily recommend Ka-di-ok to everybody."

There is no finer remedy in the world than Ka-di-ok for disorders of the stomach, kidneys or liver. Thousands have told their experiences with this remedy—some of which have been almost miraculous. If you suffer from any of the following ailments, get a bottle of Ka-di-ok at once: Indigestion, loss of appetite, rheumatism, inability to sleep, gas or bloating after meals, auto-intoxication, nervousness, iridness, poor blood, constipation and general debility. Don't continue suffering. Ka-di-ok may be obtained at all drug stores in Portsmouth. Advertisement.

VANCEBURG MAN HELD TO GRAND JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

VANCEBURG, Ky., Sept. 9.—(Special to the Times)—W. D. Hopkins, proprietor of the Busy Bell hotel and pool room, arrested following the fatal shooting of Fred Armstrong, 16, early last week, was held to the grand jury on a murder charge without bond following his examining trial before Judge W. T. Stone of county court.

The hearing was held in the court house, the court room being packed. Counsel for Hopkins entered a plea of not guilty, claiming self-defense. ## Bell System Taken Over By Home Telephone Company

Plans of several months materialized recently when the Portsmouth Home Telephone Company assumed full charge of the local Bell system. The local company recently purchased the Bell system.

In effecting this consolidation the Home company will be able to increase the service of its subscribers greatly. Harvey M. Allen, general manager points out. All Bell subscribers, of which there are about two hundred and sixty, will for the present use their old phones but the calls will come through the home office. Later, new phones will be installed. Arrangements have been completed for taking care of this added volume of business and with the installation of new equipment there will be a more centralized and more efficient service for the entire community, the telephone officials say.

Plans for removal of the equipment from the Bell office, Gallia and Gay streets, are being made. This office is being used at present. The consolidated toll service is now in effect.

The Girl Who Bared Her Soul

When Elizabeth promised to be Robert's wife, she did not know to what lengths of treachery a woman will go who is eaten with envy and jealousy. In her inexperience of life, she was to learn that while the mills of the gods grind slowly, they grind exceeding fine—and that her courage and honor would have to meet tests that few women can meet and emerge strong and unscathed.

"In Forever After," Elizabeth bares her soul with fearless frankness. It is a gripping story—yet it is only one of the many remarkable features in October True Story, now on sale at all newsstands.

Arms Question Is Up for Discussion

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—With business like directness, the disarmament commission of the league assembly began this afternoon its examination of all questions and all material touching the mutual plan of guarantees and assistance between states and the general problem of disarmament. The commission decided at the outset that these two subjects could not be intelligently treated without also discussing obligatory arbitration.

Hence, compulsory arbitration, which now is regarded as the main foundation stone of all the projects to outlaw war, becomes an integral part of the global discussion of disarmament, the final goal of which is the convocation of an international conference at Geneva, for the reduction of armaments in all countries.

A new angle was given the debate today when Boran Von Wurtemberg, Swedish prime minister, introduced a resolution in the assembly concerning the codification of international law, a subject which has long been of special interest to American jurists.

In a wide sense the Swedish suggestion supplements the immediate program of the assembly of studying certain articles of the league covenant with a view to redrafting and of examining the compulsory arbitration clause of the world court of justice with the hope of rendering it more precise, and thus more acceptable to the great powers, such as Great Britain and France.

Brooklyn Gains On Giants; Senators and Yankees Win

NEW YORK, September 9.—Robbins nested on the pennant flag pole and twittered from the rafters of the Polo grounds today, while John McGraw sat in his dugout and speculated upon the visitation.

Wilbert, the round robin, led his hand upon the green turf of the field yesterday for the first time in the thousands of Brooklyn fans who had journeyed across the famous bridge to see the second game of the little world's series.

Dizzy Vance, cock robin of the round-the-league fliers, stepped upon the mound and threw the fastest ball in captivity at the Giant army assembled for a final stand beneath the Coogan's Bluff, and if neither Brooklyn nor New York witnesses a world's series next month, the 40,000 spectators at yesterday's battle will not have been entirely deprived of its thrills.

Vance won his thirteenth consecutive game and his twenty-fifth of the season.

The Yankees, fighting grimly to recover the two-game lead enjoyed by Washington, won at Boston, 2 to 0, as Joe Bush held the Red Sox to two hits. Fullerton allowed only four

MACHINE CRASHES INTO WALL; FOUR HURT; ONE DIES

Edgar Heineman Here on Visit Is Unfortunate Victim; Skull Fractured; Accident Occurred At 2nd Underground Crossing

A fractured skull at the base of the brain sustained by Edgar Heinemann, 23, single, of Belleville, Ill., about 11 o'clock Monday night when the George Marsh touring car skidded into the concrete wall of the second underground crossing beyond Lucasville, resulted in his death in Hempstead hospital at 11:40 o'clock this morning. He never regained consciousness. George Marsh, driver of the machine, escaped injury, but three other passengers, Harold Knollhoff of Belleville, Ill., and Miss Irma Jewett and Miss Florence Yapple of this city sustained slight injuries and had a narrow escape from serious injury when they were thrown from the machine. They left the hospital early this morning after their injuries were dressed.

Heinemann was injured when the big touring car swung around to one side and crashed against the wall. The young man was in the rear seat and on the right side, his head striking the concrete wall.

The accident occurred as the party neared the end of a motor trip to Cincinnati and return. Sunday Louis E. Jewett, formerly of this city, now superintendent in the International Shoe Company's plant at Belleville, arrived home for a short visit. Heinemann, an office clerk in the factory, and Knollhoff, employed in a bank in Belleville, came with him and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh of Rosemount Road. Mrs. Marsh is a brother of Mr. Jewett.

Monday morning Marsh, the two young men and the two young women and Mr. Jewett drove to Cincinnati, where Mr. Jewett boarded a train for Belleville. The trip home was started from the Sinton hotel about five o'clock.

Marsh, who was driving, says that they had made good time and that when he came down the grade to the underground crossing, slowed down and applied the brakes when he noticed the paved road was wet.

A short distance ahead the pipe was dry and as the car was going slow he took his foot off the brake. Accidentally his foot hit the accelerator and as the car was one that goes up quickly, it shot ahead and skidded, swinging around against the wall.

Marsh at first started to walk back to Wakefield to call an ambulance, but changed his mind, came back and tried the machine and found that it was still in running order. He brought the injured through a driving rain to the hospital, where a physician was called to attend Heinemann.

Miss Yapple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Yapple of 1921 Eighteenth street, sustained lacerations of the nose and leg. Miss Yapple is a student nurse at Pittsburgh, Pa., and is home on a vacation. She is a friend of Miss Jewett, who is a daughter of D. M. Jewett of 215 Front street and a sister of Mrs. Marsh. She sustained a wrenched shoulder and neck. Knollhoff escaped with shock. Knollhoff, Miss Yapple and Mr. Marsh were in the front seat. Miss Jewett and Mr. Heinemann riding in the back seat.

Word of the death was sent to the accident victim's mother this noon. Relatives of the young man are expected here late today.

Coroner Virgil Fowler investigated the accident this morning and found that death was due to an unavoidable accident.

The body of Heinemann was removed to the town morgue from Hempstead hospital.

ly in the kind of solution proposed by each candidate, should there be a recurrence of conditions which in the last two years have brought the Brookharts, Norrises, Magnus Johnsons and other western radicals to the height of their power. The simple rise in farm prices may hold many votes in line now but they will not still the cry after election for something definite to market the farmer's crop.

By the time John W. Davis gets through with the west he may discover that a detailed agricultural solution is desired and some pledge that it will be carried into effect. For freight rates takes in one phase of the problem of the decreased cost and an export corporation looks to the establishment of a plan that will enable the domestic price of wheat to ascend in conformity with a higher export price. These questions are of sufficient importance to turn the tide in any campaign. Both the Democratic and Independent nominees are scratching the surface. Before November comes, they as well as President Coolidge will find western sentiment for a concrete plan more and more insistent, especially should there be a trouble in any of the prices of the principal farm products.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—What is your opinion of a woman moving into a strange neighborhood and getting into a fight with the first person she meets? Then she goes into court and swears to a falsehood to benefit a friend. And, Dolly, please tell me what kind of slippers will be worn this fall and winter?

—NOT NOSEY.
You can't tell me you are "not nose" when you write a letter like this. If you weren't nose you wouldn't know anything about neighborhood quarrels. I imagine that woman will make life in your peaceful neighborhood interesting for you, or at least relieve the monotony for a while. Speaking of slippers, there are all kinds and colors and a glance in the show windows as you are passing down the street will give you a pretty good idea of what is going to be worn this fall and winter.

Dear Dolly—Who won the Ohio State Beauty contest? Were the girls who entered from here to go up there?

—EAST END READER.
A married woman from Newark was chosen queen of the Ohio State Fair, but I can't recall her name now. The other contestants did not have to attend the fair.

Dear Dolly—I would like to know if I could wear a hat to an afternoon wedding. Also, when there are several ladies going, should they all wait in the back and let the ushers take them singly or should one go with the usher and the others follow?

—MILDRED.
You should wear a hat and if you all want to sit in the same seat you should all go with the one usher. One of the ladies can take his arm and the others follow.

Dear Miss Wise—I see a married man meet another woman on a corner every night. Now, he doesn't know I see him, and I guess he doesn't know that any one sees him, but we all know it and I would like to know what I should do about it. He has a nice family and I would like to see either him or his family's family disgraced and I would like to put a stop to this affair before it gets into court or before both homes are broken up. Just how should I go about this without creating a scene?

—DISGUSTED SPECTATOR.
There are several things you might do, but that is not saying you would put a stop to their meetings. You might cause them to change their meeting place, but I doubt if your interference would have any other effect on them. When men and women go that far, they usually keep on going until either one or both get a job, or start a scandal. If you know the man very well you might make it your business to walk past him about the time his affinity arrives, or go up and talk to him and ask him who he is waiting for, as you have seen him meet a woman there several times and you would like to know who she is, or something to that effect.

Dear Miss Wise—I was told that one could make a grape add out of grapes without cooking them and I would like to know how to do this? SEVENTH-STREET READER.
Put twelve pounds of grapes into a stone jar. Cover them with two gallons of cold water, in which five tins of tartaric acid have been dissolved. Let the mixture stand without cooking forty-eight hours. Then strain, taking care not to bruise fruit. To each pint of this juice add one half pound of white sugar, and stir until well dissolved. Then leave it for two days, stirring now and then. The result will be a clear ruby-colored fruit syrup, which can easily be bottled, as it will not ferment. When a delightful drink is needed put some of this juice into a glass (about an 8-ounce), fill up with ice, and sugar, one cup of ground mustard, and twenty-five cents worth of saccharine powder. Mix ingredients well in the vinegar. Place pickles in jars tightly and pour over mixture cold. This will keep about eight quarts.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS NICK GETS A COMPLIMENT

"But will they fit?" asked Mrs. Frog anxiously.

"We're getting along just fine," said Mister Snip Snap to the Twins. "If we keep on we'll soon have all the children of Meadows-Woods-Bayward Land ready for school. But there is one person who hasn't been in to buy anything yet, and that's Mrs. Frog. She hasn't brought a single one of her boys in to get a school suit. Suppose you go, Nick, and see if you can coax her to come to our store in the woods and get them some clothes."

"All right," said Nick. "I'll go right away."

So off he went. And it didn't take him three minutes to find the place where Mrs. Frog lived because his shoes were magic.

You, my dears, would have hunched, and I should have hunched, for days and days together without finding her house under the lily pads in the pond.

But Nick went right straight to it. And he knocked on her front door. Mrs. Frog herself opened it.

"Why, how'd do?" she said, for she was a pleasant person.

"I'm pretty well, thank you," said Nick. "And I hope you are well, too! I came to tell you about the new store called 'Nancy, Nick & Company.' I'm Nick. We have all sorts of school clothes, and we were thinking that if any of your children were going to start to school, you might be wanting to buy some."

"But will they fit?" asked Mrs. Frog anxiously. "If they shouldn't happen to fit, what would I do?"

"Oh, we'll give you your money back," said Nick.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — JUNGLE ANIMALS

By this time the captain and the two sailors grew tired of lying in the thicket. They hopped out and shouted "Let's be on our way." So Jack and the guide followed them to another partly opened pathway into the deeper jungle. It was necessary for the captain to keep cutting their way.

Jack got to playing with Flop, his pet monkey and he gradually fell a short distance behind the rest of the party. Suddenly he heard a great commotion above him. Looking up he saw several great large birds with long black bodies. They were swooping down closer and closer to Flop.

Jack knew right away that they were vultures, the big birds that eat the hand bones. He was afraid that one of them would grab hold of Flop and carry him up in the air. "Snack, old fellow," shouted Jack to his dog. Flop half stood up on his haunches and barked loudly. (Continued.)

China's "Strong Man," War Lord of Manchuria Plans To Rule and Modernize the Nation

(BY J. W. T. MASON)
(Copyright, 1924, By United Press.)
NEW YORK, September 8.—(By the United Press)—China's "strong man," Chang Tso Lin, war lord of Manchuria, has joined in China's new civil war, intent upon changing the destinies of the Far East and perhaps of the world by building China about himself and modernizing the nation. If Chang Tso Lin succeeds he will make himself president in Peking and then overthrow the republic and have himself crowned emperor, with autocratic powers to reorganize the country from Mongolia to Canton.

This explanation of Chang Tso Lin's design can be made authoritatively as the result of an interview he gave Karl A. Bickel, president of the United Press, at his Mukden palace last autumn. Chang Tso Lin then explained he was only waiting for "spring to come" to make his supreme effort to establish himself in full power. "Spring" has now come and the Manchurian dictator has started on the road to Peking with the best equipped army in China.

In his talk with Bickel, Chang Tso Lin attacked Tsoo Kun, president of China who had just then been elected to office by the Peking parliament as the result of lavish gifts of money. Chang Tso Lin declared: "Tsoo Kun was elected by bribery and fear. His election was obtained by methods that cause shame upon all patriotic Chinamen. He is supported by many men who represent the worst elements in China. On my part I am a future of China in Asia. I believe in remitted China.

"Cartwheels" Are Coming Back

A silver dollar may weight more than a paper one—
Unfortunately, it won't buy more—unless you take it to BRUNNER'S tomorrow—"Dollar Day," when you will not only get more for your dollar—be it silver, or paper currency, than elsewhere in Portsmouth, but you will also receive a rebate of a dime—ten cents on every dollar you spend at their great sale.

Tommorrow is "Less-than-a-Dollar Day" at the Brunner Store, for you not only get the benefit of sale prices but you get your dime rebate in addition, for every dollar spent. And the gigantic sale lasts but four more days, ending Saturday night.—Advertisement.

Taking the High Spots Out of Highways!
When you're hitting 25 miles per or more along a country highway that has high spots or ridges across the pavement at regular intervals it is rather hard to maintain constant contact with the rear seat.
Uncomfortable for passengers and expensively hard on the car.
The new and MODERN way of designing brick pavements (flexible instead of rigid) does away with this so-called "expansion joint."
Since scientific research has proven that NATURE FIGHTS RIGIDITY, the modern design of brick pavement calls for asphalt filler between the joints. No more unsightly cracking and crumbling with discomfort to users and a burdensome upkeep cost to boot. Instead, a pavement FLEXIBLE ENOUGH to expand and contract without cracking, yet HARD AND TOUGH ENOUGH for any traffic. No more "expansion joints" to bounce you around in the rear seat and wear out your tires.

Head Exchange Clubs U.S. FLYER SUFFERED A PAINFUL INJURY

MITCHELL FIELD, Sept. 8.—With the plaudits of New York still ringing in their ears, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and three of his companions in the army's round the world flight, gave a series of intimate sidelights on their heroic achievement before the fliers started on the last lap of their journey.
Out of the mass of details, given with a patent modesty, it came to light for the first time that one of the fliers, Lieut. Ogden, had continued with the expedition despite a painful injury. Lieutenant Smith, the flight commander, told the story.
Lieut. Ogden, he said, was in Lieut. Leigh Wade's plane when it made its forced descent into the sea, after leaving behind it in the Orinney Islands. He was taken on board the U. S. Destroyer Barry and while standing on the bridge of the ship, touched a charged iron railing, which was used to ground the antennae of the craft's radio, and Ogden was severely burned on the leg.
Lieut. Ogden is still suffering from the injury and on arrival here yesterday was ordered to the post hospital where his leg was massaged. Although the wound is still painful, post doctors said he would be able to continue the flight this morning.

It was during the height of the reception in their honor last night that Lieutenants Smith, Wade and Arnold and Nelson answered the queries of the newspapermen. They spoke modestly, almost shyly of their achievements, taking little credit to themselves, but each eager to bestow tribute on his companions in adventure.

Lieut. Smith said that while he and his companions were "a bit tired" they were in "fit" conditions, and despite the hardships of their journey had not lost weight.

The hardest stretch of the flight, Lieut. Smith said was off the coast of Greenland. He added the expedition was marred by only two forced landings: one made by Lieutenant Wade at sea after having left Kirkwall, in the Orinney Islands, and the other at Alou Point, because of the fog. In this connection, he paid a tribute to the American navy and to the coast guard.
"The navy treated us excellently, as well as if we had been naval men. I also learned that we have a great coast guard. I didn't know much about them before, but I certainly do now."

"I suppose, gentlemen, when you've finished this flight all of you will take a good long rest," someone suggested.
"Indeed I am," Smith exclaimed enthusiastically. "I think we will all take a leave of absence. For my part I'm going where there are no clocks and nothing at all to worry about. And say, if there are any clocks where I go, I'll stop every one of them."

Among the hundreds of telegrams of congratulations that piled in on the aviators were scores from governors, mayors, high ranking army and navy officials and public men throughout the country. A message which especially appealed to them came from Boston. It read: "Congratulations on your return. Western Union Mess near Boston's Western Union Messenger Boys, 500 strong."

Flyers

which it was intended to cover over the grave of the unknown soldier as the machines passed Arlington cemetery.

Lieutenant Ogden boarded the Boston 11 at the last moment, with the permission of Mitchell Field hospital chiefs. After having been rescued from the North Sea when the Boston 11 was forced down, he sustained severe electrical burns aboard the U. S. S. Barry and was sent to the Mitchell Field hospital last night for treatment.

But this morning Ogden insisted on accompanying his flight companions to the end of the route. With reluctance the doctors permitted him to leave his cot and told him to "go to it."

One flyer passed over Northeast Philadelphia at 11:50 a. m. The world's greatest flying machine was seen at 12:03 p. m. while thousands of persons watched and cheered. The planes accompanied by four others were flying low. The weather was cloudy.

The flyers passed over Wilmington, Delaware, at 12:32 p. m. daylight time. A report from Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, received at Bolling Field said the flyers had been forced down by fog at Aberdeen. They would resume the flight as soon as possible, the message said.

General Patrick, who is accompanying the world's flyers, said they were coming to make the landing at Phillips Field, near Aberdeen at 12:20 p. m. He expected the delay would not be more than an hour.

Aberdeen is about 71 miles from Washington. General Patrick was informed that President Coolidge and the members of his cabinet were waiting and replied that the start from Phillips Field would be expedited as much as possible.

President Decides To Wait

President Coolidge decided to remain at the field, the cabinet officers following his example. Luncheon engagements were forgotten in the desire to pay honors to the flyers. Luncheon also meant nothing to the great crowd that had jammed every inch of available space around the landing field.

Automobiles were lined four to six deep all around the field.

As the weather cleared, and the rain stopped, President Coolidge moved up and down the line of official cars chatting with cabinet officers. He also inspected a line of airplanes.

Before one machine the president decided to reach out and grasp the propeller. He tugged at it a little and air service officers dashed forward to warn him of the danger that lurked in the idle driving mechanism. He nodded and passed on around the machine, finally climbing up to inspect the cockpit.

Jackson Granted Divorce

James Jackson, 417 Bond street, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Tuesday, divorcing him from Kathleen Jackson, 718 Kendall avenue.

The youths are accused of breaking into a shed and stealing the tire when a tire on Freeman's machine blew out as they were passing the oil distributing station.

Suit To Quiet Title

Suit to quiet title to real estate consisting of two acres situated on the West Side, was brought by Edward Truener, suing through Attorney E. G. Miller in Common Pleas court Tuesday, against Minnie Puckett, John Puckett and Warren Hopkins.

Plaintiff in his petition says that in September 1921, he bought the premises involved from the Pucketts, paid them the purchase price, excepting $7 and was given possession. He further says that the defendants delayed and refused executing him a deed and then claims that they wrongfully decided to sell the premises to Hopkins last August. Plaintiff asks that the Hopkins deed be cancelled and the Pucketts be ordered to convey title to him.

In the foreign quarter word that the attacking Chinese army had come into contact with the defending marines was expected momentarily.

Armed Intervention Hazardous
BY LLOYD ALLEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Sept. 8.—The governments of the United States and Great Britain have begun a preliminary exchange of views regarding the Chinese crisis, according to information from a reliable source.

The possibility of concerted international action to prevent general civil war in China is being discussed. Prime Minister MacDonald soon will devote his personal attention to the problem. Meanwhile Britain's oriental experts are emphasizing the extreme difficulty of intervention.

Convocation of a round table conference of rival Chinese war lords is agreed possible.

It is pointed out that armed intervention would be politically hazardous from an Anglo-American viewpoint, because Japan's proximity and strength would give her a preponderant role, one which the other powers, especially the British and Americans would find it difficult to curb and control.

China Confronted By General Civil War

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(United Press.)—Reports from all Chinese battle fronts today and from headquarters of the rival war lords of the north who are preparing to enter the fray, indicated that general civil war followed immediately upon the martial declaration of the Manchurian Chieftain Chang Tso Lin.

General Wu Pei Fu, leader of the Chi Li party arrived at the Lihao battlefront before Shanghai, but it is pointed out that the assault of Chi Hsieh Yuan's forces upon the city.

Learning this, Chang Tso Lin sent word that he would kill Wu Pei Fu and also President Tsao K'un of the Peking government.

Another powerful war lord, Sun Yat Sen, is sending large numbers of troops northward to Shanghai, but it is pointed out that Sun's troops will have the greatest difficulty in establishing contact with Lu Yang Hsiang, who he desires to aid.

General Lu is reported to have received a check for 400,000 pounds sterling from Chang Tso as an evidence of the latter's entry into the conflict.

Thus Chang Tso Lin and Sun Yat Sen, powerful leaders of the north and south, have aligned themselves with Lu Yang Hsiang at a moment when reports from the Shanghai battle fields indicate Lu has met with severe defeats.

General Wu Pei Fu and President Tsao K'un of Peking are backing General Chi, Lu's rival.

Inter-City Chamber of Commerce to Boost Entire Ohio Valley, Mr. Selby Tells Rotarians

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 8.—"Favoritism is one thing which will not be tolerated in the Inter-City Chamber of Commerce—every city member is going to receive the same consideration," Mark W. Selby, prominent Portsmouth shoe manufacturer, assured Huntington Rotarians in explaining the purposes of the newly created inter-city chamber embracing Huntington, Portsmouth, Ironton and Ashland at the Rotary club's luncheon meeting yesterday.

Mr. Selby went into detail to make clear the unlimited possibilities of such an organization in furthering the prosperity of the member cities and the tri-state region. The new chamber, he said, will function largely along a general community program designed to bring industries into the territory and thereby increase the population and social advantages of the member cities.

"There will be no favoritism where the inter-city chamber of commerce is concerned. The whole tri-state region rather than any one city like Huntington or Portsmouth will be benefited," he said.

The directorate of the new chamber is to be composed of 12 men, one from each county represented. It has been recommended that the annual dues in the chamber be $25 and that a total of $15,000 be included in its annual budget for publicity activities, he also explained.

Truck and Coupe Damaged in Crash

A man whose name was not learned had a narrow escape from injury yesterday, when a Ford coupe which he was driving, crashed into a truck belonging to Albert Maier, on the Buena Vista pike, near the Pond Run road.

The Ford coupe attempted to pass another car, and crashed into the truck when, on seeing the approaching truck, the driver applied his brakes and the coupe skidded.

George Gill was driving the truck. O. F. Motts, Pond Run grocer, brought the driver of the Ford coupe, who was slightly injured, according to reports of the wreck, which were vague, to the city for medical attention.

The coupe was badly damaged, and the heavier machine escaped with slight damage.

Ohio Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Endorses Donahey

COLUMBUS, O., September 9.—(By the United Press.)—Governor Donahey is the choice of the Ohio Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, for reelection.

The Brotherhood endorsed Donahey's candidacy when it met here, relieved of a restraining article of its constitution which prevented entrance into politics. Just what candidates for state offices would be endorsed by the body here today could not be determined. The president and vice president endorsed him, however.

Donahey was chosen by the state brotherhood because of his past record, according to Charles Morrey, members of the legislative committee of the body.

Betting Odds Favor Death Sentence For Slayers

CHICAGO, September 9.—(By the United Press.)—Betting odds in loop gambling clubs favor a sentence of hanging for Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for their murder of Bobby Franks, it was learned today. Many thousands of dollars have been wagered on the possible sentences to be meted out by Justice John R. Caverly tomorrow.

About a week ago when the first bets were made, the odds were as high as three to one that Nathan and Richard would be sentenced to death. The odds have gone down steadily until today the betting is 5 to 4 that Justice Caverly will sentence them to the gallows. A large sum of money has been wagered at these odds that the boys will hang.

Betting on the possibility of life in prison is at even money. The bulk of the betting is on life imprisonment.

Big odds on a lesser sentence, 14 years or more, are offered but with few takers.

Small bets were recorded on the chance that Justice Caverly will shift the responsibility from his shoulders by placing the sanity of the youths before a jury.

With the hour of sentences only 24 hours away, Nathan and Richard appear to be the same complacent young men who gawped and laughed their way through the five weeks of the grueling murder hearing.

"What's the use of worrying?" asked Leopold, the philosopher and fatalist. "Sure, what's the use," Loeb echoed. Both reported sound asleep last night. They were up early, at their usual time today. They performed the few chores allotted to all prisoners. They had a hearty breakfast and then went to the prison barber.

Only the members of their families gave evidence of nervousness. None doubt the outcome of the case. All profess to believe that Justice Caverly cannot avoid a sentence to life imprisonment. But Allen Loeb, brother of Richard, and Jacob Loeb, millionaire uncle of the youths, who are keeping the vigil here while his parents are ill at their summer home in Charlevoix, Mich., show evidence of sleepless nights and much worry.

Nathan Leopold, Sr., father of Nathan and Foreman, his brother, also shows signs of deep worry.

Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney said:

"I have full confidence in the court. It seems to me that there can be but one decision, and that is life imprisonment as we have asked."

Justice Caverly completed his preparations today for the sentence. He conferred with Chief of Police Collins regarding a guard for the criminal courts building. Mounted police and foot police will patrol the streets. Scores of officers will be scattered throughout the building to prevent possible attempts of cranks to gain entrance. Many threatening letters have been received by Justice Caverly.

"Some threaten me with death if I fail to impose the death penalty, and still others threaten me with death if I do order hanging," he said.

BUTLER ELATED OVER RESULTS OF ELECTION IN MAINE

CHICAGO, September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—William M. Butler, chairman of the National Republican committee declared in a statement today "We have made a clean sweep in Maine."

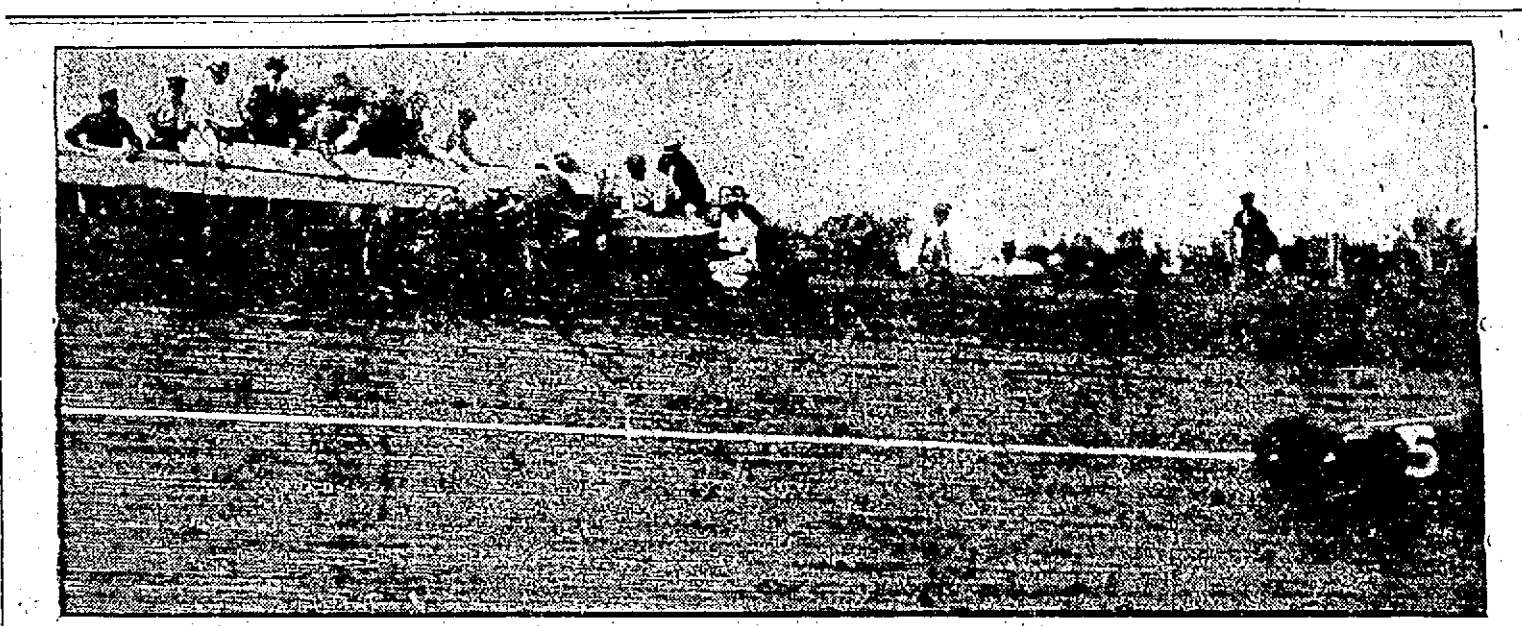

The verdict is definite and forceful. The Maine barometer records unmistakable confidence in Calvin Coolidge and his policies, and his triumphant election.

MAJOR PARTIES IN OHIO PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 9.—(United Press.)—There was much scurrying about in political circles today as both major parties made final arrangements for opening their fall campaigns.

The Democratic state central committee and the executive committee met here this afternoon to set a date and place for the firing of their first big guns.

The Republican campaign committee last night decided the state drive would be opened in Marion, Sept. 27, and that Charles G. Dawes, vice presidential nominee, should make the first address.

A FEW SECONDS AFTER THE ACCIDENT in which Joe Boyer, racing driver, of Detroit, was fatally injured on the Altoona Speedway, Altoona, Pa. Boyer, trying to overtake Murphy, the winner, in the 250-mile classic, and traveling at 125 miles an hour, crashed through the rail at the top of the bowl and was pinned beneath the wreckage of his car. Boyer died a few hours later in the hospital. Photograph shows rescuers trying to reach him.

Heavy Vote Expected In Primary In Vermont

MONTPELIER, VT., September 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Vermont voters were expected to attend in unusually large numbers the opening of the polls this morning for the biennial primary election. The candidacy of a native son, Calvin Coolidge, for the presidency, has aroused citizens throughout the state to a high pitch of interest in politics. Political leaders last night declared that the primary vote this year will be far above the 67,000 total for the state in the election two years ago.

The primary campaign has been a quiet one but the coming national contest has reflected its interest to the state candidates.

There are no Democratic contests. The Republicans are called upon to choose between candidates for governor and congressman from one of the two districts.

Lieutenant Governor Franklin S. Billings is opposed by Roland E. Stevens, of White River Junction, for the gubernatorial nomination.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT A Rosy Little Old Lady

Copyright, 1924, by Newspaper Features Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

THERE it was at the end of a blind little road, not half a mile from the great highway—the little old fashioned low-roofed house with the broad porch and the queer little windows—and there it sat in its garden of marigolds and pink and old maid pincushions and everywhere and everywhere masses of blue lobelias.

Light blue and dark blue and purple and almost white, fine and delicate, yet sturdy, too—what a picture it made, the little old fashioned house. There was a well, too, with a well sweep and a bucket at the end of it, and there were nasturtiums climbing around by the well and over in the damp corner a nice cozy bed of fragrant mint.

We stopped at the gate, said we were thirsty, went in through the gate and a nice, fresh, rosy little old lady came to the door and she said, "Why certainly!" and we sat down in hickory chairs with split bottoms—her grandfather made them she said, and we drew some water from the well and drank it. Then the rosy little old lady went into the house and came out again with a great glass pitcher full of buttermilk and we drank and we drank.

A Promise and a Prophecy

The sun went down and the dew began to shine in the masses of the lobelia and the evening primroses by the gate sent up their perfume as if someone swung a censer in the twilight—and the first star of the evening gleamed in the heavens like a promise and a prophecy.

And the rosy little old lady told us that her husband would be home soon, now—oh, yes, he went to town every day, he was very busy, but he wouldn't stay and have supper with them. We were just impatient enough and happy enough and grateful enough to do it.

I put on a fresh checked gingham apron and went into the kitchen and fried—not broiled—thick slices of pink, home-cured ham—there was the smoke house, not too far from the kitchen door, and you could slip out and reach down a delicious ham or a slice of bacon or a good piece of pork—just as easy. There was a spring house down in the garden—that's where the buttermilk came from, and you ought to have seen the chickens running around in the little chicken yard.

There was a dove house full of doves, too, too, too, too, too, they said, but the bees stopped humming when the sun went down, though you could smell the golden honey in the hives.

And I tried eggs, too, very carefully so that they would not break. The rosy little old lady made some fresh biscuits and she had a pound cake in the cake tin and she had honey in the comb and she had marmalade made of figs and apricots with a squeeze of orange in it. Also she had cookies. Soon the door opened and a rosy, hale old gentleman came home and we all sat down in the clean little, swept little, friendly little dining room and had supper together.

And if there'd been room in the house we'd have stayed all night—by some hook or crook.

Was It Only a Dream?

When we left we had our arms full of posies and I carried wrapped in a bit of clean paper three slices of home-cured ham and six slices of home-cured bacon—but, pshaw, when I got home they won't taste like anything in particular—not without the rosy little old lady and the hale old man and the smell of the honey in the hives and the perfume of the evening primroses and oh, the blue lobelia, I'm afraid they will not look half so blue when we get it out of the sunshine and into the house.

I promised to go back again, down the blind little road to the little house in the little garden all smothered in blue lobelia—I don't believe I will keep my promise. I'm afraid it would all turn out to be nothing but a dream and if it did my heart would never be quite as light again.

Steamship So. American Destroyed By Flames

HOLLAND, MICH., September 8.—(By the Associated Press)—The steamship South American, one of the finest passenger boats on the Great Lakes, virtually was destroyed by a fire which broke out early this morning while the boat was in dry dock for the winter here. The crew of 16 negroes, which has been cleaning the boat since it came into dock here five days ago, escaped. The cause of the fire, which started amidships, near the engine room, was undetermined. The boat, an oil burner, had 500 gallons of fuel oil stored near where the fire started, and explosions of oil tore out large portions of the hull and endangered the lives of firemen fighting the blaze. Many summer cottages along the shore near the burning boat were ignited by embers blown by a stiff wind, but all were extinguished without serious damage. A warehouse, under construction near the dry dock, however, caught fire and was badly damaged, as was the dry dock which had recently been completed at a cost of $30,000. The total loss had not been estimated early today. The value of the boat was placed at $500,000. It had been running for several summers between Buffalo and Chicago.

Through Attorney E. G. Miller the defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Blevins said that he and his wife went to the Picklesimer home to live a few weeks ago, but declared that after three or four days he was compelled to leave because of alleged riotous conduct of the defendant and others there.

DAZZY VANCE DAZZLES GIANTS AND ROBINS TURN IN VICTORY

Victors Again Within Half Game of First Place

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Batting brilliantly behind their ground ace, Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn turned the tables on New York, won the second and last game of their series, 7 to 2, and jumped back to within a half game of the league leading Giants.

A throng of 40,000, one of the largest of the season, saw Vance hang up his 13th straight triumph and his 25th of the season, while his southpaw rival, Lefty Neff, retired in favor of Ryan after being shelled by the heavy Robin artillery for seven hits and five runs in six innings.

Displaying all the fire and dash that has carried them through the greatest winning streak any club has had this season, Brooklyn outplayed and out-generated McGraw's champions. Superior work in the field and timely hitting behind Vance's great twirling were the factors that carried them to victory.

Deberry's home run drive against the upper left field grandstand, with Griffith on base, gave the Robins their winning margin in the fifth inning. As Vance out, the crowd's cry, "Let's go," steadily to their lead afterward while the Giants battled gamely but ineffectively.

Besides Deberry, who had a perfect day at bat, the Robin assault was led by High, who had a brace of booming triples, and the veteran Zach Wheat, with a single and a double. Vance held the Giants to six hits and added six errorless victims to his long list. He was hard hit, however, in the third and fourth when the Giants scored their only runs, chiefly through Jackson's triple and Young's double, and had narrow escape from further damage in the fifth and sixth innings.

Gowdy doubled to start the fifth, but a double play, engineered by Stock, snuffed a building rally, while in the sixth Vance issued three passes in a sudden streak of wildness, but escaped unscathed.

What looked like bad strategy resulted in Vance being nipped at third in a double steal while none by Kelly and Wilson blasted further scoring hopes.

SENATORS WIN
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The Washington Senators opened a brief series in Philadelphia Monday by sending the Athletics down to an 8 to 4 defeat.

The veteran Walter Johnson worked easily behind the lead his team mates piled up in the opening innings and was never in serious trouble. Hauser and "Bing" Miller solved him for home runs, but the bases were clear on both occasions and the blows did little damage. The score:

Billy Evans Says Do you know Baseball?

Ball players are perhaps less careful as to their diet than any other class of athletes. This goes for the star as well as the rookie.

Recently for seven innings Walter Johnson held Chicago to four hits and no runs. If great pitching had the crowd thrilled. It looked as if he would surely add another shutout to his long string.

When Washington went to the field for the eighth inning Johnson was missing from the picture. Fred Marberry was on the rubber for the Nationals.

Most of the fans figured something serious must have happened to Johnson's arm, for at the close of the seventh inning he looked unwell.

Others thought that probably Manager Harris was of the opinion that he had tired and it was wiser to send him to the bench.

Johnson, with only a two-run lead, was forced to extend himself at all times.

As a matter of fact, Johnson was removed, because he seemed a sudden attack of indigestion that made it unwise to permit him to continue pitching.

Johnson likes his ice cream. Indigestion in about a pint of it about a half hour before game time caused all the trouble.

Prior to the start of the game I noticed one of the club house boys passing the door of our dressing room with a tall glass full of ice cream and covered with luxurious shredded pineapple.

Being rather fond of ice cream myself, I remarked to the boy that he needn't go any further.

"This is for Walter Johnson," replied the youngster. "He told me to hurry back."

That wonderful looking pineapple sundae an hour later caused plenty of trouble for Johnson and for a time threatened to throw a jolt into Washington's pennant chances.

The Nationals won the contest, 2 to 1, but a break of the game, an unassisted double play on a line drive to the first baseman, saved the day, when it looked as if Chicago might win.

Walter Johnson insists that he has learned a lesson, that never again will he indulge so short a time before play.

The lesson Johnson says, he has learned could be used to advantage by 90 per cent of big league athletes. It is a habit of players to eat and drink prior to game time, with ice cream, soft drinks and "hot dogs" as the favorite forms of dissipation.

A college trainer would have a lot at the methods employed by big league players as to their diet.

It is a well-known fact that many a star has literally eaten himself out of the big show.

Baseball trainers claim that it is impossible to regulate the diet of an athlete too closely over a strenuous campaign of six months, as is the case with the national pastime.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES VIGOROUS RISE

Heavy Volume of Buying Orders Follows

Known Results of Election In Maine

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Stock prices moved upward in impressive fashion today in reflection of Wall Street's gratification at the Maine election results, lower time money rates and favorable railroad merger developments.

Opening rains of 1 to 4 1/2 points held up despite occasional flurries of bear selling in the specialty list. The closing was strong. Sales approximately 400,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—With the elimination of the uncertainty regarding the outcome of the Maine election, the stock market at today's opening continued the vigorous rise which was in progress at the close yesterday. U. S. Steel mounted 1 1/2 points on a spread opening. General Electric soared 4 1/2 points, American Water Works 4 and New York Central, Baldwin, Mack Truck and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe 1 to 2 1/2 points.

The market swung into a spirited rally as transactions of one thousand shares or more reflected the heavy volume of buying orders.

The advance was accelerated by active short covering which was added to heavy purchasing for long account by investors who had been awaiting the result of the Maine election. Gains of three points or more were recorded by National Lead, West Penn. Power and Chandler, with American Can and Willys Overland preferred advancing two points each. The upturn in the rail shares was led by Union Pacific, Lackawanna, New York Central, Nickel Plate and Norfolk and Western. Pittsburgh and West Virginia Pfd. reached a new high at 104 1/2 following announcement that the issue had been called for redemption at 105. One point gains were well distributed throughout the entire list.

Foreign exchanges opened steady. When the immediate requirements of the short interests had been satisfied, prices of many of the leaders fell back a point or so on profit taking inspired by the belief that the early advance had been excessive.

Chandler fell back 3 points from its early high and bear selling again developed in some of the specialties which were weak yesterday, particularly Coca Cola, Allied Chemical, Union Bag and Paper and American Sumatra Tobacco preferred, the last named dropping more than 3 points to a new 1924 low at 23. This selling failed to unsettle the general list and prices were heading upward again around noon under the leadership of the high grade railroad shares. New York Central, Lackawanna, Norfolk and Western, Canadian Pacific and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico set the pace by moving up 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 points. On the rebound, General Electric, American Can and some of the other specialties topped their previous peak prices.

Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

Wheat Deliveries Wipe

Out Early Gains; Corn Strong

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK MARKETS

Stocks strong; Lackawanna leads big rail advance. Bonds steady; French issues as firm and higher. Foreign exchanges buoyant; sterling rallies over 2 cents.

CHICAGO MARKETS

Wheat steady; export buying. Corn higher; frost reports. Cattle dull and lower. Hogs steady to higher.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Frost in Canada, together with drought in Argentina and higher quotations at Liverpool, tended to bring about price upturns for wheat today during the early dealings here. Besides, crop damage reports in France, Germany and Belgium attracted considerable notice. However, big deliveries here today on September contracts were a weight on the market and soon wiped out nearly all the gains.

The close was unchanged at 75c net, declined 1/4c advance, December $1.27 1/2 to 1.27 3/4 and May $1.34 to 1.34 1/2.

Opening prices, which varied from 1/2c to 3/4c higher, with December $1.28 1/2 to 1.28 3/4 and May $1.34 1/2 to 1.34 3/4 were followed by a material sag from initial top figures.

Reports of frost gave evident impetus to buying of corn. An opening price of 1 1/2c, December, 1 1/2c, 1 1/2c to 1 1/2c, the corn market hardened a little more and then reacted somewhat.

The close was strong, 1 1/2c to 1 1/2c net higher, December $1.13 1/2 to $1.14. Oats were firmer in sympathy with corn. Starting 7 1/2c to 7 1/2c, December 6 1/2c to 6 1/2c, oats prices later showed something of a setback as compared with the opening.

Provisions, although dull, kept about steady.

THREE INJURED WHEN ENGINE IS DERAILED

RUSSELL, Ky., Sept. 9.—A. J. Tamm, veteran C. and O. engineer of Russell, was seriously injured, and fireman George Plerson of Russell, and brakeman J. F. Kitts of Greenup, Ky., received slight injuries when a C. and O. engine left the rails about two miles this side of Prestonsburg, Ky., on the Big Sandy Division. Last evening Mr. Vaughn was in a serious condition in the C. and O. hospital at Huntington. The wreck occurred about 3 a. m. Sunday, just after the freight and left Prestonsburg. Monday, Mr. Vaughn said he did not know what caused it unless a rail buckled, or broke, he saying his engine turned on its side against a cliff immediately after it tumbled to one side, off the rails. The impact against the cliff knocked a large rock loose from overhead and this crashed through the cabin of the engine. The stone struck Mr. Vaughn a glancing blow, but fell on Plerson and Kitts, pinning them to the door. But for the presence of a job on the train the latter two may have lost their lives, the unknown traveler prying the rock from the injured men. He also assisted in rendering first aid when other members of the crew arrived.

Hand Is Mangled By Chain; Pike County Man Loses Three Fingers

PIKETON, O., Sept. 9.—(Special to the Times).—H. L. Moorehead, of Pike county, sustained a mangled left hand when he was caught in the chain belt of a threshing machine. The accident happened on the Charles Stubbs farm near Idaho, where Moorehead was assisting in oats threshing. The last load of oats had been brought to the machine and Moorehead was adjusting the chain belt when his left hand was caught in the machinery. He was brought to Pike-ton, where the last three fingers on his left hand were amputated by Dr. J. P. Seiler.

N. &amp; W. Caboose Robbed

IRONTON, O., Sept. 9.—Thieves broke into a caboose on the N. & W. near the narrow gauge in Carl Grove and stole a quantity of clothes, tools and other things belonging to the train crew. According to local police, a west bound train had stopped at Coal Grove to refuel and the conductor and brakeman were on the front end of the train when the theft occurred. Sheriff Dement was called, but failed to find any trace of the thieves or stolen goods.

Huge Vote Expected In Michigan Primary

DETROIT, Mich., September 9.—(By the Associated Press).—With a record vote for a primary election forecast by political observers, voters of Michigan are today choosing between three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. On the Democratic ballot there are no contests, except a last minute opposition in the gubernatorial race, where it has been announced a "sticker" vote will be sought. United States Senator James Couzens, incumbent, is opposed by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, of the United States district court, for the Republican nomination for the short term, made by the appointment of Couzens to fill a vacancy, while Judge Tuttle and Daniel W. Tussing, of Lansing, are opposing the senator for the full term. The name of Hal Smith, Detroit attorney, also appears on the Republican ballot, but Smith withdrew from the race after the ballots were printed and in a statement asked his supporters to favor Judge Tuttle. Senator Couzens, a resident of Detroit, claims strong support in Wayne county. Judge Tuttle, who has made his campaign on charges of party irregularity against Couzens, has the support of the anti-Saloon League, while Tussing is credited with being a Ku Klux Klan candidate. Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck is running for nomination for his third term, standing on his record. This record has been challenged by Herbert P. Baker, who has campaigned against the governor and who claims farmer and labor support. Charles R. Sligh, of Grand Rapids, also claims support of farmers and strength in northern Michigan. W. W. Potter, chairman of the public utility commission, is running on a platform of economy. Rev. Frederick Perry, of Adrian, is said to be the Ku Klux Klan candidate, and Lieutenant Governor Thomas Reed, asking farmers support is the seventh candidate. Only Democratic contest of statewide interest is in the contest for the gubernatorial nomination. E. Dale Sawyer, Grand Rapids attorney, announced late last week that he would run against Edward Bernhardt, of Hudson, although only the latter's name appears on the ballot. Dean Mortimer Cooley, of the University of Michigan, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. There are contests in virtually all of the congressional districts for the nomination of congressmen.

HAMDEN

Two young men enroute from Athens to Cincinnati on B. and O. No. 3 Saturday got off here to buy some cigarettes and got left. After starting up street they noticed train start and one of the boys, a mute, tried to catch the rear of the train by standing still and grabbing it. He was thrown between the platform and rail on his back. Fortunately it was the rear of the train as he would have likely been killed if there had been cars behind the one he tried to catch. Both boys left on B. and O. No. 1 Sunday morning for their destination.

Hamden schools opened Monday, Sept. 8th, with the following teachers: Superintendent John L. Stone, Trimble, O.; Principal R. L. ### NO PROFIT IN PREACHING

SUNDAY brought the usual trail of accidents for the day. There was not a state, nor a city, for that matter, that did not relate accidents of greater or less degree. Quite all had similar source, recklessness or carelessness, which is about the same thing when it comes to navigating an automobile. Still, no matter as to that. With the day passed came to every newspaper requests to say something in the way of warning against carelessness in driving cars. And every editor must have asked himself, at least: "What's the use?" There are thousands whom a seat at the wheel makes foolhardy; there are thousands of others who have no bump of caution. You may lecture and you may hector those, or rather towards them, until, as the old saying goes, you get blue in the face. They either will not hear, or hearing, will not heed. The railroads joined hands, last year, to exploit the virtue of care in driving, and especially, the necessity of great caution in approaching grade crossings. The result: The Pennsylvania Line, the first road to sum up its records of the year reports a great increase in crossing accidents. The tales of terrible slaughter that the newspapers carried for the year, indicate that other roads will show just the same outcome. So what is the use of talking!

DIED IN THE HARNESS

THE death of Edward T. Geers, "Old Pop" Geers, in a racing accident, was just another proof that no matter what profession or occupation one follows, he can adorn it and through it, rise to distinction. Pop Geers literally followed the races. For better than fifty years, he did nothing else, except in the incident thereof, training trotters. He was the greatest and most successful driver that ever sat in a sulky and hundreds of thousands, who had never so much as seen a harness race, respected and were fond of him. His career spoke in deeds and conduct and not in words. He was known as the Silent Man of the Turf, but his work spoke for him. In a pursuit that is believed to harbor many crooks, he was as straight as a string. No dishonest trickery, nor foul method, was ever resorted to by him. He was always out to win with the fastest horse and the best driving. His ways were essentially honest and his habits honorable and clean and civil. He was never known to use foul word and his strongest expletive was "doggone." He neither drank nor used tobacco in any form. He loved the noblest of all animals with a surpassing ardor and in doing that ennobled himself. It is well he should die in the harness, the tragedy of it emphasizes the lesson of his life.

NOT ALWAYS TO THE SPEEDIEST

THE daring Italian aviator, Lieutenant Locatelli, reinforces old McGuffey's in the lesson that the race is not always to the swift. When the Americans flew from Europe Locatelli joined their party, with the intent of accompanying them to the United States. Leaving Iceland, he darted far ahead, having the swiftest plane. Far out he encountered a dense fog, that vision could not penetrate and he lost his course, with the result that he dropped down into the Arctic ocean, from whence the water was so rough, he could not rise again. For three days he drifted about on the churning waves, when, fortunately for him, he was rescued by American boats, which the government had patrolling the island as a protection for its own fliers, in case of mishap. Of course, it was fine that this government should at once place all its resources to rescuing the foreigner and bring him safely through his misadventure, but aerial scientists say the real lesson of the affair is that on perilous flights planes should move in concert and try for safety ever rather than speed.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. McINTIRE

PARIS, Sept. 9.—We sought out one of the clobbered nooks of Montmartre today for breakfast. And drew up in the rear yard of an old house which bears the name Cafe Concou. It provided an excellent view of Paris. Hens were pecking in the yard and there was the constant yipping of the packs of dogs that rove the district. Afterward there was a stroll through the quarter—viewing the tiny shop windows aliboom with their varying jumble. Paris lives to eat and drink. Snails are the piece de resistance and to see windows of the slimy, crawling things doesn't whet a ham and egg appetite. Sidewalk vendors were hawkng a new-fangled needle that pleases the ladies. Manipulating it they may close "runners" in silk hose. Back near my hotel I sought the ministrations of a barber. It was a real salon and the lone barber took pride in his art. When I asked for a haircut it was quite a surprise to be attended to by a black whiskered fellow of middle age. So this is Paris! On the Rue de la Paix—that short strip of fashion paradise—one notices that the skirts are shorter than ever before. The smartest frocks are only a few inches below the knees. The Parisian women are the best dressed in the world and the men the worst. The hangouts for Americans at the luncheon cocktail hour are the Ritz American bar, Hurry's New York Bar and The Arizona. The latter place is run by a Frenchman, and the Arizona atmosphere is provided by a lone chalk drawing of a cowboy. In the New York bar there is a snoot at prohibition in the states in two signs reading: "Try Our Scotch Low Cocktail" and "A Drink With a Kick—Try the Three Mile Limit." The usual crowd of barflies that graced the old corner saloon is there. I bought a Paris Times in front of Maxim's today from a nowise who used to be stationed at Brooklyn Bridge here for the tourist. He came over on a tramp steamer just for the trip and went broke there three months ago. Now he is going to stay. He says he is averaging $250 a month selling newspapers to Americans. At luncheon in the Cafe de Paris were two rosy cheeked and plump Frenchmen—evidently twins—and alike even to their shiny bald heads. Each bore a legion of honor ribbon in the lapel. They ate exactly the same dishes in almost perfect unison and not once did they exchange a word. "Two of the richest bachelors in Paris," the headwaiter told me. And stir: "A pair of gay dogs." One leasur' in Paris that "English Spoken Here" signs often do not mean a thing. In many cases it is a mere lure for the tourist. I have been trying out my menu French on various unsuspecting innocents with the usual result—they shrug their shoulders and walk away. The saddest note in the world's gayest city is its army of nymphs du pave. Most of them are in their teens. When the lights come on they swarm on the principal avenues tossing engaging smiles and suggestive winks to passersby. Their direct approach is to ask for a cigarette. Paris makes no effort to suppress them. Indeed groups of them often indulge in bantering conversations with gendarmes. It is not unusual for a lone man to be halted by six or seven in a block. The guides who show yokels the hidden wickedness are also just as plentiful. They are sleek and well dressed and with regret one sees that half of them are young American boys. "Money ain't what it's cracked up to be, for I lost a lamp happier when I didn't know where my next boss' money was coming from," sighed Plasterer Al Moots, today. Who recalls when the stores an' shows wuz closed on Sundays an' the homes wuz inhabited?

Summer Night
Night stealthily stirs with motion, A black panther switching its tail Restlessly to and fro. It crouches ready to spring. But down steals near And with soft stroking fingers Turns it into a tame tabby cat, Stretching sleepily.

Night is full of a beating silence The hat remembered drumming of surf Along a log pile beach. Night gathers itself To burst into crashing noise But ever is held by the endless rhythm The ebb and flow of its long throbbing silence: Pierced and shattered at last By the shrill cry of waking birds. An old colored janitor's employer asked him why he was sporting around in his Sunday clothes when it wasn't a holiday.
"Well, you see, boss," he replied, "I'm celebrating my golden wedding."
"But isn't you wife celebrating it with you?"
